Camp Registration FAQs

- I am a Museum member (Family level or above) and I am trying to register my child for camp, but the website says that registration does not open until the day after advertised for member pre-registration. Can I still register on the member pre-registration date?
 - Yes. Although the registration page says that registration begins the following day, that is the opening date for non-members. Museum members (family level & above) get early access (24 hours) to registration. Make sure you are logged in to your Museum account and proceed with registration.
- If I am trying to register 2 kids for the same camp, how should I do that? I have encountered an error message.
 - When registering two kids for the same camp, you must use two different names in the "Registrant" field (such as a different family member's name).
- What level of membership do I need to possess to receive my discount and have access to early registration?
 - You will need to have a Family level membership or above.
- Why am I not seeing my member discount?
 - Make sure that you are logged into the Museum website before you begin the registration process. Member discounts will be applied at the final step of checkout. If the email that you are using to register does not match the primary email on your membership account your membership may not be recognized. Please contact the Museum if you would like to change or update this email.
